DEPUTIES AT BENWOOD.

Seven Were Appointed and Sworn in Yesterday who will be

STATIONED ON STREET RAILWAY

Line in Benwood to Protect the Company's property—No More Arrests Made Over in Bridgeport, the Birds Seemingly to Have Flown—Commencing To-day the Line will be Operated Through to Benwood.

The principal feature in connection with the street car strike yesterday was the swearing in of seven deputies at Moundsville for service in protecting the Wheeling railway company's property in Benwood. Judge Paul, of this judicial circuit, held a special term of court at Moundsville yesterday morning for the purpose of appointing these deputies. The deputies who were selected are Walter Deal, Samuel Pierce, John Whites, Frank Clegg, jr. They were placed in charge of Deputy Sheriff McComb, of Marshall county, and late in the afternoon came up to Benwood on an Ohio River train. This morning they will be stationed along the line of street railway in Benwood for the purpose of protecting the cars of the company, which it is announced will commence running permanently to Benwood this morning. Cars would have been run down there yesterday, but for the fact that the tracks, on account of the heavy snow were in an impossible condition. A gang of men were at work yesterday clearing away the snow and mud. When the cars are put on to Benwood this morning the railway company will be operating its line from one end to the other, having civil protection along the entire route, from Martin's Ferry to Benwood.

The sloppy condition of the streets all over the city yesterday made walking very disagreeable, and caused the travel on the street cars to increase greatly in volume. Even down on the South Side, many of the cars were pretty well patronized. The company claims, and appearances seem to justify the claim, that the amount of patronage accorded its lines is on the increase, and will soon equal what it was before the strike went on.

There were no disturbances of any kind along the road yesterday, except snow balls thrown at some of the South Side cars by small boys. No disturbances have occurred for over a week, and it looks as though they have ceased.

Some of the business men who live on the line of the street railway, but on account of a fear of being boycotted by the strikers do not ride on the cars, are getting very sick of this condition of affairs. One said yesterday that he was in favor of a meeting of business men for the purpose of resolving to ride on the cars when it pleased them. He was of the opinion that if some united action like this would be taken a boycott would not then be feared.

No more arrests were made yesterday over in Bridgeport. The young man, Edmunds, who was arrested Tuesday evening, is the only one of the Etna-ville rioters under arrest. The constable having the warrants for four others was on a still hunt for them yesterday, but could not find traces of any of the four. It is thought they took time by the forelock, and got out of harm's way, which over the river means "a jury of farmers out at St. Clairsville."

AN OLD FASHIONED WAY

Will be Used by Three Young Men to Go to the World's Fair.

Three South Side young men, John Minkemeyer, Henry Brinkman and William Lantry, will use a novel though old fashioned mode of transportation for getting to the World's Fair at Chicago. It is their intention as soon as the winter's back is thoroughly broken to start from here in a two-horse wagon for Chicago. They will go by easy stages and rest whenever and wherever their sweet wills dictate. Probably two or three months will be passed in the long journey of six hundred miles. They will carry a camping outfit and be almost entirely independent of circumstances. Their only object in adopting this mode of travel is its novelty.
